AMSTERDAM TOURNAMENT

Welcome!

Dear players,

Welcome to the IAF Antichess World Championship! For the next two days, we will discover who can combine quick wit, precision, and endurance to claim the title.

Our aim is to provide not only a fair and competitive tournament, but also a friendly and enjoyable atmosphere for all participants. Two days. Twenty-eight rounds. One champion. Good luck!

II. Venue Guidelines

SV De Raadsheer has graciously given us the space to use for free as well as assist us with logistical issues. They do expect us, however, to use their venue for food and drinks. Food and drinks prices will be reasonable. Do not bring in outside food and drinks other than water and/or energy bars. Please be courteous to the venue and purchase snacks and concessions from them.

There's a cloakroom for coats which will be visible from the room. Out of an abundance of caution, remove wallets and any other valuables from your coats. The venue is not liable for any personal items that are lost or stolen. There is also a smoke room available on-site to anyone who needs it.

There are a number of people volunteering in the venue to help make this tournament run smoothly and successfully. If a volunteer reports misconduct about a player to an organizer for whatever reason, then we will investigate and can sanction that player if deemed appropriate. This can include but is not limited to giving a verbal warning or other disciplinary actions. Tournament players may also report another player for misconduct during or outside a game. Organizers will address any reported misconduct and determine appropriate sanctions as necessary.

We want everybody to have a good time. Please practice good sportsmanship and common courtesy to everyone, to ensure everybody enjoys themselves.

Food

At the venue, they have a reasonable number of snacks (some typical Dutch ones). Frikandel and meatballs, toasties, kroketten, fries and ham- and cheese sandwiches. If none of this is to your liking, we could ask them to have some other (simple) options. Please notify us what other options you might prefer or if you have any food allergies.

III. General Tournament Rules and code of conduct

Several referees and a head referee will be present who can also make rulings. You may appeal rulings, however, by asking for the head referees to make a determination. The decision of the head referee will be the final ruling.

When you need the help of the referee, please stop the chess clock and make a note of the last move played. The clock will be restarted by the referee after:

- A ruling is adjudicated;
- No appeal by either player is requested.

If one of the players chooses not to continue after the ruling, they will forfeit the game.

If you want to go to the toilet during a game, you have to give your phone to one of the referees who'll return it when you get back.

We aim to play 28 rounds spread over 2 days. Note that due to various reasons it could mean that in the end we play less rounds.

IV. Game rules

1. Rules of antichess apply for every played game.
2. If you're the first name on the match draw sheet, then you play the white pieces. The match draw sheet also has a table number, so it's easy to find out where you need to sit.
3. Time control will be 5+8.
4. The player playing the black pieces decides on which side of the table the chess clock will be.
5. During the game, both players must make their chess moves and press the chess clock with the same hand.
6. An offered handshake before the game may not be declined.
7. You can only press the chess clock when all pieces are upright and in the correct square.
8. When you touch a chess piece, you must move with that piece.
9. You may not touch chess pieces when it's your opponent's turn. If something is not right, please stop the clock, write down your last move and call for the referee.
10. If your opponent made an illegal move, pause the chess clock and tell him/her that another move had to be made.
11. If your opponent made an illegal move and you've made a move as well and pressed the chess clock, then the game will continue. You must spot the illegal move before you press the chess clock yourself.
12. We don't want players to 'flag' another player when it's a drawn position. If you think your opponent wants to flag you, please stop the clock and ask for one of the head referees. He'll either confirm it's a drawn position or not. If not, the game will continue and you may not call the referee again for the same reason this game. If the referee confirms it's a drawn position, the game result will be a draw. However, players may agree to continue the game, the game stops after 30 moves without capture or a pawn move. If it's a normal drawn position (like bishops of opposite colors), then the game can be stopped immediately... call the referee if your opponent wants to continue in this case. 3-fold repetition rule also applies.
13. When the game is finished, please note the score and make sure both players sign the score sheet.

Swiss / Round Robin setup

The pairing system used depends based on the amount of participants. At Saturday's morning debrief everyone will get to know the system used. This can mean the timetable will get a complete overhaul, however the starting and end time of both days will remain the same. An accurate timetable will be available at location.

Match Sheet

There are match sheets available for those who want to document their game. We request match sheets to be returned to the tournament officials at the end of the event or offer them the possibility that they can take a picture as they will be put into a Lichess study later.

"So, they will count towards my rating?"

No... they will not!

VI. Location of the event

Address of the Venue:

Kattenburgerstraat 150.
1018 JH Amsterdam

Walking route from Central Station, a 25-minute walk.

Public Transport:

Unlimited use of Amsterdam public transport with an OV chip card

If you're using public transport in Amsterdam and beyond, the public transport chip card (OV-chipkaart) is used for travel on trams, buses and metros. The most convenient option for visitors is a disposable one-hour card or day card (valid for one to seven days). One-hour tickets can be bought from the conductor or driver on the tram or bus. Day tickets can be bought on the tram or purchased in advance. Day cards can't be bought from the driver on the bus. Tickets are valid across the whole network from the first use, allowing you unlimited use within your chosen time-frame.

Paying with cash on public transport

Amsterdam is working towards making public transport completely cashless. Tickets can only be purchased using debit or credit as of 26 March 2018. Cash is no longer accepted on buses and trams.

These cards are valid: V-pay, Maestro, VISA, Mastercard, JCB, Diners Club, Union Pay and American Express.

Bike.

If you're comfortable with riding a bike, then renting a bike is probably the cheapest option. There are several providers and it should be easy to find a bike rent shop. Cost will be between 10-15 euros a day.

VII. Attendance Agreement

By attending this event you agree to the following:

- The tournament organizers reserve the right to take pictures during the event to use in Lichess blogs and the antichess.org website. By attending this event you agree to these conditions. Of course if you do not feel comfortable with this please get in touch with one of the tournament officials and we will act accordingly to your request!
- The tournament organizers and the venue are not eligible for any loss of items.
